

Language and Literacy Meet and Greet

Tuesday, September 13th

11:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

Erickson Room: 252

Meet and Greet

Please join us in kicking off our 2016-2017 Literacy Colloquy Speaker Series by attending our first session.

This session is an opportunity to meet faculty and graduate students whose research is in language and literacy. We will host scholars from CITE, CEPSE, Writing, Rhetoric and American Cultures, Second Language Studies, Chicano/Latino Studies, and EPET, so this is a great opportunity to meet new faces and learn about the amazing work happening at MSU in the study of literacy. Representatives from the Michigan Reading Journal (MRJ), Research in the Teaching of English (RTE), and the Journal of Teacher Education (JTE) will also be at this session to share opportunities about how to get involved in these three journals, which are currently edited by MSU faculty and students.

The session will consist of 3 mini-sessions designed to maximize conversation and networking time. The mini-sessions will involve groupings based on common research interests, with one session providing opportunities to meet journal editors and learn about ways to get involved with journals. This will be a great opportunity for networking!

MSU Literacy is proud to present this interdisciplinary, cross-departmental group of scholars.

For the full 2016-2017 Literacy Colloquy schedule, check out our wiki:
<http://llcolloquy.wiki.educ.msu.edu/> !

